WorléeXtra Lipid Fucus

The cold season is upon us, and this often means additional stress for our skin. Both the cold air outside and the dry heating air indoors stress and can harm the skin. For this reason, skin care that moisturizes and soothes at the same time is necessary.

With our marine extract WorléeXtra Lipid Fucus in your cosmetic formula, you harness the vitality of the ocean and unlock the potential of marine wellness, embracing the botanical power of nature for a complete skin sensation.

Our extract relies on high-quality dried Fucus vesiculosus, sourced from a trusted partner in Brittany, France, where the water of the North Atlantic Ocean is known for its remarkable quality. The algae is harvested with respect to the local marine ecosystem and meticulously processed. Due to a reliable partnership with the supplier, the quality control of the raw material is assured in the long term.

WorléeXtra Lipid Fucus is produced through a gentle cold extraction process with only pure essential ingredients, boasting minimal energy consumption to reduce the environmental footprint and employing eco-friendly harmless solvents. It combines the essence of Fucus vesiculosus with RSPO-certified Caprylic/Capric Triglyceride sourced from sustainable palm oil.
