

Excellent quality through commitment and investment. Our cooperation project

Since the early 1990s, our exclusive partnership with the Gharieb Group has been inextricably linked to our joint project "El Nenaiea". This long-standing relationship stands for a transparent supply chain and the highest quality of natural raw materials. Thanks to our collaboration in the El Nenaiea project, we provide both the best organic and conventional raw materials.

Our commitment to the best quality and food safety:

- Cultivation of our raw materials on our own fields and from selected contract farmers
- Ensuring professional cultivation in compliance with good agricultural practices and sustainable supply chain requirements
- Operation of a modern vegetable drying factory
- Management of an accredited laboratory for microbiology and chemical analysis

Hand-picking at El Nenaiea

Sourced organic raw materials and their harvest time:

April - May

March- May

Dec-Feb / May- June

We monitor the entire value chain.

To make sure that our products meet the strictest ecological and conventional standards in order to provide you with the highest quality of raw materials.

Pioneer: Sustainability, reliability & quality for more than 30 years.

Worlée's commitment: Quality assurance through expertise and financial security.

- Provision of technical know-how
- Introduction of a modern quality assurance system
- Cultivation and harvest financing for consistent quality and supply

Our engagement for a more sustainable future

We take responsibility:

- Supporting biodiversity and erosion control through the cultivation of date palms as field borders
- Following a balanced crop rotation to maintain good soil fertility and structure
- "Zero Waste Strategy" through the production of biogas and compost from our side streams
- Thus reduction of CO<sup>2</sup> emissions

Our goals until 2030:

100% independence in all means of production

Continuous optimization of supply reliability

Ongoing improvement of the quality and safety of our products
